“Switzerland is facing big challenges: climate change, digitization, pension provision, energy security, relations with the EU, and more. Especially in times of increasing polarization, constructive cooperation between political forces is needed. My NGO brings together decision-makers and key stakeholders in a collaborative process on major challenges, accelerating the development of catchy solutions, and to gain majority support in parliament. We’ve initiated notable progress on climate-neutral national transport, a climate-positive national financial center, and others.

As a leader, I have to develop my team and my organization and deal with parliamentarians, leaders in every sector of society, as well as our board and funding partners. The issues we’re tackling are major. The stakes are high. I need to bring my best, consistently. Lawrence Ellis’s coaching helps me keep an overview of the challenges I am facing in this context and gives me space to deepen and find the best approach to tackle them.

I wholeheartedly recommend Lawrence and a)plan coaching to leaders for doing their best and improving their leadership, thanks to the support of a highly skilled and experienced coach who brings in his mind and heart.”
